JURY FINDS FRED CLEVENGER GUILTY

Assesses Fine of $400 And Imposes Sentence of 5 months For Illegal Liquor Sale

DELIBERATES 2 1/2 HOURS

Attorneys File Oral Motion For New Trial Which Will Be Heard Saturday Afternoon

Fred Clevenger, defendant in the circuit court, was found guilty of the charge of unlawfully selling liquor, when the jury which heard the case reported early this morning after the case had been in progress Monday and Tuesday night. Their verdict imposed a fine of $400 and a sentence of five months.

Immediately following their verdict, the defense filed an oral motion for a new trial, and Judge Fremont Miller of Franklin, special judge in the case, stated that he would return Saturday afternoon to allow the motion to be presented. In the meantime, the defendant was permitted to go on his continuance bond, until sentence has been passed by the judge, sustaining the verdict of the jury.

No case heard here in recent months attracted as much attention from the public, as this liquor case. When the evidence of both sides was completed shortly after five o'clock last night, Judge Miller insisted that the arguments should take place, and he overruled objections to the contrary, offered by the defense.

The first argument of the state was presented before the supper hour, and each side was given an hour and a half for arguments, causing the final argument to be completed at 9:20 last night.

The court room was jammed with "throngs" who attempted to head the arguments, and hundreds of people were turned away from the court room doors.

All of the attorneys in the case made excellent addresses, and the "maiden speech" for Gates Ketchum, the new prosecutor, was regarded as one of the best ever delivered before a local jury and when he finished, people crowded around him expressing their congratulations.

The jury retired twenty minutes later, after they had been instructed by Judge Miller, and at twelve minutes past midnight, they were ready to report, and by the time that the judge and the attorneys were notified, there report was received at 12:40 this morning.

The jurors were constantly on duty under a sworn officer, from the time that they were sworn into service, until discharged early this morning. During the night before, they were not permitted to go to their homes, and were given rooms at a hotel.

PRESIDENT VETOES HIGHER PENSION BILL

Burdens Are Too Great to Pay Increases to Civil and Spanish American War Veterans.

DISCOURAGES ECONOMY PLAN

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 3.—President Harding today vetoed the Bursum bill providing for an increase in pension to civil and Spanish American war veterans and widows.

The financial burdens of the country are too great to pay for the increases, the president said. The president objected to the bill as an outright bestowal from the government, marked with the heedlessness for the government's financial problems which is a discouragement to the effort to reduce expenditures and thereby remove the financial burden of taxation.

The president in his veto message said that he had, however, a more particular objection to the bill on account of its provisions for pensions to widows. This provision allows a pension to women who married civil war veterans nearly sixty years after the war.

INSTITUTE HELD AT MAYS TODAY

First of the Series in Rush County at Arlington Tuesday Attended by 565 Persons.

$251 IN PREMIUMS AWARDED

Mays Opera House Packed Tuesday Night to Hear Address by the Rev. L. E. Brown.

The second farmers' institute of the series to be held in Rush county this month and next got underway at the Mays opera house today, following the opening session Tuesday evening, the feature of which was an address by the Rev. L. E. Brown of this city on the subject, "The Poison Pot."

The first institute of the series was held at Arlington Monday night and Tuesday and was marked by an attendance of 565 persons. The opening session Monday night, which was held at the Arlington Christian church, was addressed by Dr. J. L. McBrien of the state normal school at Terre Haute, and Tuesday the principal addresses were made by Mrs. W. C. Roberts of Bedford and H. M. Widney of St. Joe, Indiana.

These same institute instructors were on hands at Mays today and each gave two addresses pertaining to the farm and the activities of women on the farm, one each in the morning and afternoon.

The Mays opera house was packed with people and standing room was at a premium when the Rev. Mr. Brown arose last night. A program of musical numbers and readings was also given. Premiums were to be awarded today in the corn show and women's department.

Premiums in cash and merchandise amounting to $251.00 were awarded in the corn show and women's department at Arlington Tuesday as follows:

STATE FISH AND GAME LAWS GOOD

Important Thing To Further Fishing And Hunting Is Strict Enforcement of Laws In Force

TO INTRODUCE FEW BILLS

Indiana Game Warden Service Operating Under Richard Lieber, Reaches High Efficiency

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 3.—Indiana fish and game laws are as good as in any other state, and the important thing to further fishing and hunting in this state is strict enforcement of laws we already have, is the opinion expressed today by George N. Mannfeld, in a bulletin sent to 143 fish and game protective clubs of Indiana. Mr. Mannfeld admitted that the fish and game division of the state conservation department, of which he is superintendent, has a few bills to throw into the coming legislative hopper, and also stated that organized hunters and fishermen of Indiana of which there are at least 40,000 are prepared to resist any legislation that will cause the state, to retrograde in the matter of perpetuation and protection of this natural resource.

Mr. Mannfeld pointed out that the Indiana game warden service operating under the personal supervision of Richard Lieber, director of the conservation department, has reached a high state of efficiency, compared with other states Indiana is at the top of the list for actual results accomplished.

There were 28 salaried wardens employed during the fiscal year of 1922, and these men arrested 1767 alleged violators resulting in 1,666 convictions. Before the present division was established 350 arrests with a similar number of wardens was considered a good year's work. This division has made a real attempt to enforce impartially the fish and game laws he says.

"These facts are mentioned," Mr. Mannfeld's letter points out, "to show the men and women who buy licenses to hunt and fish that their money is and has been wisely, effectively and economically spent. The fish and game division is entirely self supporting. No tax payer is assessed a penny for its operation. The state has had fish and game laws since 1857. In the 65 years, since the first game law was enacted, the sum total of all the money appropriated by the state and raised from taxation for protecting and propagating game and fish amounts to the small sum of $108,246. On the other hand hunters and fishermen have paid in the last fifteen years for such purposes over $1,000,000."

MRS. J. C. BROWN IS DEAD NEAR HENDERSON

Death Follows Short Illness With Acute Indigestion Tuesday—Several Survivors.

FUNERAL THURSDAY, 2 P. M.

Mrs. J. C. (Nick) Brown expired at her home near Henderson Tuesday following a short illness of acute indigestion. The deceased was fifty-five years of age and her death was a severe shock to her family and friends. She became suddenly ill with indigestion Tuesday morning and died within a short time.

The survivors are two foster children, Mrs. Bertha Hendrix of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Ralph Loyd, of this city; three foster grandchildren, Frances, Walter and William Moxing, who lived with Mr. and Mrs. Brown; one half sister, Mrs. Ester Selby of Richmond, Ind.; one half brother, Jacob Brown of New Salem; and the husband.

The funeral services will be conducted Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at the St. Paul's Methodist church in this city and burial will take place in the East Hill cemetery.

STOCKHOLDERS OF MINING CO. SUED

James E. Watson, Will M. Frazee and Claude Cambern, Three of Five Defendants Named

DEMAND IS FOR $47,000

Suit Filed Here to Force Stockholders to Pay Off Liabilities of Afterthought Mining Co.

Rushville people, alleged to be stockholders in the Afterthought Copper Company of Arizona, were named as defendants today in a suit filed in the Rush circuit court by one, Stephen Sprague Day, the complaint being to enforce stockholders to pay off liabilities, and the demand embraces approximately $47,000.

The defendants named in the action are Ward H. Watson of Indianapolis, James E. Watson, Will M. Frazee, Evelyn Henderson Fife and Claude Cambern. Three distinct paragraphs are contained in the complaint, involving the alleged stockholders of the mining concern.

The complaint alleges in the first paragraph, that the five defendants named, comprise a stock company owning 1,544,900 shares in the Afterthought Copper company, organized for the purpose of mining copper.

It is alleged that on January 2, 1920, the mining company negotiated a loan of $5,000 from the First Savings Bank of Shasta county, Redding, Calif., and that the principal on the note is now placed at $4,375 and interest at $329.34, and is past due. The note has been taken up by Stephen Sprague Day, the plaintiff in the case.

The second count charges that on January 29, 1920, the mining company was loaned $25,000 by the Capital National Bank of Sacramento, California, and that the notes have since been assigned to the plaintiff in this case. The plaintiff alleges that on April 26, 1922, the principal on the notes amounted to $23,338.86 and that the interest and principal is now past due, which places the demand at $25,000 on this paragraph.

For the third count, it is alleged that the mining company became indebted on a book account for goods, wares, and merchandise purchased of the McCormick-Snelzer Company, a corporation of Redding California, and that the amount of the indebtedness is $15,495.56.

The complaint alleges that the plaintiff has had the notes for the account assigned to him, and that the account is past due, and that the interest is placed at $1,632.25, which is included in his demand for judgment.

The complaint sets out that the law of the state of California makes the individual stockholders of a concern responsible for notes and debts, and the complaint demands that the plaintiff should be awarded judgment on each paragraph against the individual stockholders, according to the ratio of stock owned by each person.

The complaint itemizes the number of shares of stock said to have been owned by each person in April, 1922, which is listed as follows: Ward H. Watson, 19,614.2 shares; James E. Watson, 10,214.2 shares; Will Frazee, 15,705.5 shares; Evelyn Henderson Fife, 11,757.8 shares; Claude Cambern, 19,194.4 shares.

WIFE DESERTION CHARGED

Walter May, a farmer living northeast of Rushville, was arrested late Tuesday by Patrolman Lakin on a warrant from the Fayette circuit court, charging him with wife desertion. The man was held in jail here today, waiting for the Connersville officers to come after him.

COMMEND TRACTION LINE

Live Stock Shippers Comment On Way Hogs Are Handled

White and Megee, stock shippers of this city today commended the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction company for the attention given their two cars of stock shipped from Rushville last Thursday night, and which were stranded at Morristown two days on account of a washout and shutdown of the power. The shippers stated that under ordinary conditions the hogs would have been killed from exposure and delay, but when the traction company saw that delivery could not be made to the market for several hours the hogs were released, fed and watered and all expenses were paid by the company. In addition to this, the shippers, stated that they were paid market price for three head of hogs which died on account of the delay.

WEEK OF PRAYER IS BEGUN IN CHURCHES

Second Meeting Of Series Will Be Held Tonight At St. Paul's Methodist Church

SERMON BY RENO TACOMA

The second meeting of the Week of Prayer which is being held among the Protestant churches of this city this week, will be held tonight at 7:30 at the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, with the Rev. Reno Tacoma, pastor of the First Baptist church, being the speaker. All the members of the different churches of the city are cordially invited to attend these meetings and are urged to at least be represented at each meeting.

The first meeting of the special services was held last night at the First Presbyterian church with the Rev. H. W. Hargett of the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, being the speaker. Owing to the inclement weather many were kept away from the meeting.

The Week of prayer is an annual observance among the churches of this city, and is conducted by the Rushville Ministerial association. On Thursday night the meeting will be held in the First Baptist church with Rev. E. G. McKibben, of the First United Presbyterian church delivering the sermon. Friday night marked the close of the services and the meeting will be conducted in the First United Presbyterian church with the Rev. L. E. Brown pastor of the Main street Christian church the speaker.

COUNTRY BOYS MAKE THE BEST TRAINMEN

George McKenney, I. & C. Transportation Superintendent, Has Preference For Them

ARE MORE EASILY TAUGHT

Country boys, the ones who never did anything else but farm, make the best trainmen, is the opinion expressed today by George McKenney, transportation superintendent of the Indianapolis and Cincinnati traction company who is starting inquiries among the farmers for their boys that can be spared from the farms for train service.

"The best trainmen that we ever produced, came off of the farms, and they are the ones who never did anything else in their lives but farm," stated Mr. McKenney, who went on to explain that the so called "green horn" farm hand, who didn't know the difference between a lathe and a coil box, or a generator from an indicator, were more easily taught, and accomplished better results, than those who already knew too much.

Mr. McKenney, whose office is located at rooms 310 Traction Terminal building, Indianapolis, is compiling a list of applications for motormen and trainmen from farm boys, between the ages of 21 and 25, who might be interested in changing their vocation.

RETIRE AFTER 16 YEARS IN OFFICE

George W. Young Quits as City Attorney and His Son, James V. Young, is Appointed

FIRST MEETING OF NEW YEAR

City Council Designates Public Depositories and Acts on Other Routine Matters

George W. Young, city attorney for sixteen years, resigned this position Tuesday night at the regular session of the city council, and his son, James V. Young, was appointed as his successor by the councilmen. Mr. Young, the retiring attorney, was elected from year to year, and as the meeting last night was the first one this year, he told the councilmen that he would not be a candidate, and his resignation came as a surprise.

In not being a candidate again, Mr. Young stated that because of his advanced age, he was gradually getting out of the active practice. During the sixteen years, of which the last 12 have been consecutive, Mr. Young boasts of a good record of not having a judgment sustained against the city at any time in a law suit. Several decisions were rendered against the city, but no appeals to higher courts, he won out for the city.

The successor, James V. Young, is a partner of his father in the law business, and retired January first as trustee of Rushville township, after having served many years in that capacity.

Not much business came before the councilmen last night. It was decided to advertise for bids for a coal unloader to be placed at the city water and light plant for the purpose of unloading and placing coal in bins from the cars on sidetracks at the plant, and save the plant much money spent for labor in unloading the cars. Bids will be received February 6.

A petition for a street light on the Shelbyville road between Spencer and Hodges branch was brought up, and the matter was referred to the proper committee to report at the next meeting.

No remonstrances were received against the action of the council to vacate a portion of Market street, north of the city water and light plant, and the section of the street was finally ordered vacated.

The annual distribution of funds to be placed during the year in the Rushville banks and trust companies. Continued on Page Six

OWNER OF MYSTIC THEATER DIES TODAY

Benjamin F. Swift, Age 50 Years, Expires of Pneumonia Following Week's Illness

CAME HERE IN JUNE, 1921

Benjamin F. Swift, age 50 years, owner of the Mystic theater, expired about eleven o'clock this morning at his apartment in the Colonial hotel, 332 North Morgan street, death resulting from a week's illness with pneumonia.

The deceased assumed possession of the local theater a year ago last June, and had successfully managed the show during his ownership. He was born November 28, 1872, at Jackson, Ohio, and was a mechanical engineer by trade, having served the government in that capacity during the recent World War.

The deceased was a Mason, and belonged to the Blue Lodge and the Chapter, with membership at Spring City, Tenn. Prior to coming to Rushville, he resided in Dayton, O.

He is survived by the widow, and his mother, Mrs. Mary C. Swift of Dayton. Four sisters also survive, who are Mrs. N. E. Davis of Dayton, Mrs. E. C. Headley of Doanoke, Va., Mrs. L. S. Tomlinson of Louisville, Ky., and Miss Martha Swift of Dayton.

The remains will be shipped Thursday morning at seven o'clock to Dayton, O., for services and interment.

CROWDS VIEW ENTRY

REVOLUTIONARY LEADERS ENTERING ATHENS.
It looked as though the entire city of Athens, Greece, turned out to view the triumphal entry of Colonel Plastaris and Colonel Gonatas (right) and their men. The revolutionists took charge of the city, and the Constantine government collapsed like an air bubble. It is said that Colonel Plastaris is mainly responsible for the execution of the Ministers and he argues that the world would not have taken the revolution seriously unless examples were made of those men.

If I Were a Teacher—

I WOULD find some person who I wanted to "brush up" on the subjects I could teach. May-be he would need tutoring to pass an examination, or perhaps he would want to make up for neglected education. At any rate, I could tutor this person either in the afternoon or evening.

Through The Daily Republican Want Ads I would get my first pupil. Then maybe I'd decide I could handle some more, and soon I'd be busy one or two extra hours every day. Other teachers have done this, so I know my plan would be a success. I would improve my work and make money at the same time.

CONFERS ON EUROPEAN AFFAIRS

Ambassador Harvey and Mrs. Harvey

The ambassador to the court of St. James at London, Col. George Harvey has arrived in the United States to confer with President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes regarding the reparation tangle and other European affairs. Mrs. Harvey, who has been ill with throat trouble, is in Madeira for a change of climate while the ambassador is in America.

BEST INDIANA CORN FOR JUDGING WORK

Indiana corn has demonstrated once more its superior qualities by taking the blue ribbons at the International Grain and Hay Show. Only once has the state relinquished that honor. Why has Indiana corn so consistently carried off the honors? Because the Indiana type of corn is the type which is out-yielding all other types. More bushels per acre to feed more hogs spells prosperity for the farmer.

Come to the Farmers Short Course at Purdue University Jan. 8-12, and learn more about this type of corn. Every effort is being put forth to obtain the best corn for Judging work ever used. The type suitable for your locality will be on the tables for you to work with and thus become familiar with the Indiana type of ear which means so much to Indiana agriculture.

AMUSEMENTS

Was A Stage Success

The late Clyde Fitch, dramatist, whose play, "The Woman in the Case," was adapted to Paramount Pictures as a stellar vehicle for Betty Compson under the title, "The Law and the Lady," also wrote, "The Cowboy and the Lady," which has been pictureized by Paramount with Mary Miles Minter and Tom Moore in the leading roles. Mr. Moore is seen as the "bad" cowboy and Miss Minter is the lady whose unhappy marital affairs result in a great deal of trouble ere she finds the road to happiness.

Charles Maigne directed the picture, which was filmed in the Jackson Hole cattle country of Wyoming. Following the completion of the ranch shots, the company returned to Hollywood, where the interior scenes were photographed. Patricia Palmer, Vicra Daniel, Robert Schable, Leonard Clapham, Guy Oliver and Robert Mack are in the cast. The picture will be shown at the Princess today and Thursday.

A romantic and exciting tale of the west, this play offers great opportunity as well for comedy. The idea of cowpunchers on motorcycles trying to rope steers, a modern idea of ranching, with filing systems and the like; the rancher who dresses like a gentleman of fashion—all supply mirthful moments, which contrast with the tragedy at the end and the trial which results in the vindication of the hero from complicity in the killing at a dance of the worthless husband.

Julien Josephson, who scenarized "The Old Homestead" also wrote the continuity for "The Cowboy and the Lady."

WORLD'S SMALLEST MAN

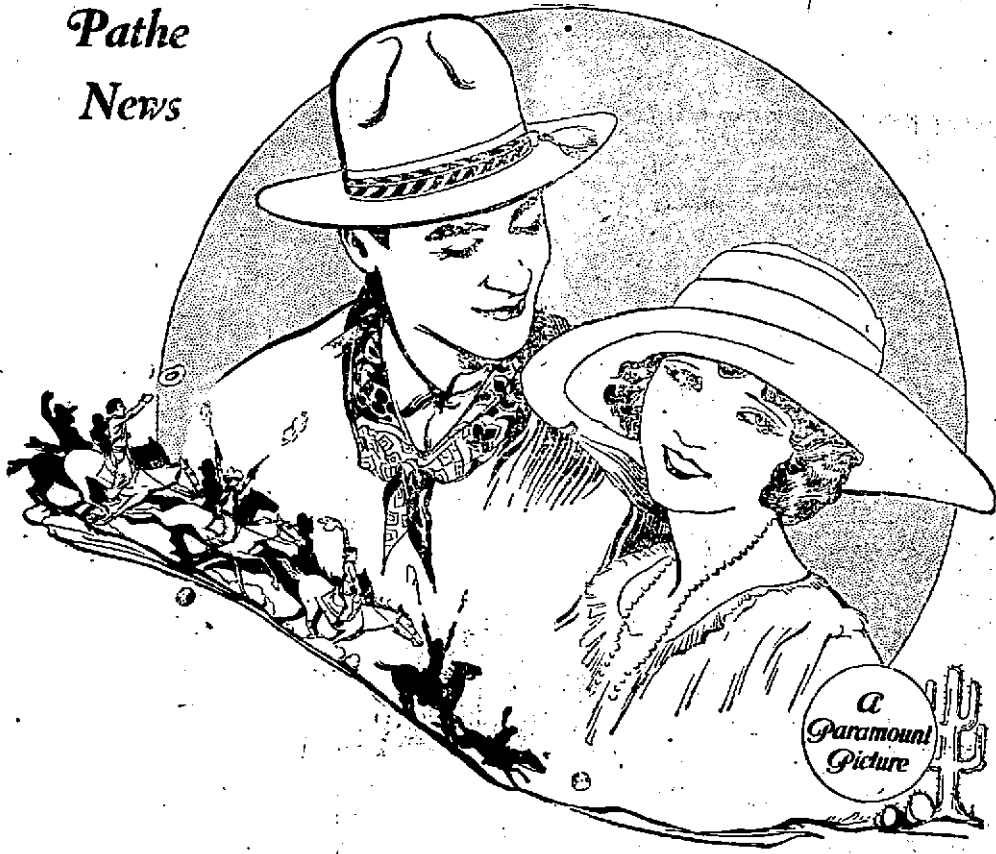

HOW'S THE AIR UP THERE?

Major Mite (Clarence Howerton), the smallest man in the world, called to pay his respects to President Harding at the White House, and the little fellow could hardly breathe in the rarified atmosphere, when an average man held him up to his shoulders. Felt like a mountain climbing experience to the Major. He is only 28 inches tall, weighs 19 pounds and is 18 years old. At birth he weighed 9 pounds, and managed to pick up the other 10 during the 18 years of his existence. He is two inches shorter than the famous Tom Thumb of Barnum fame.

Motor Tax Laws

All kinds and description of laws
will likely be introduced in the forthcoming session of the legislature declaring for a tax program with the automobile as the chief "goat". The one that is most likely to come first and on which there will be the greatest fight will be the bill to levy a tax on gasoline.This proposed tax has been endorsed and condemned more than any other proposal to come before the legislature most of the endorsements being on the assumption, that the tax could be collected at the source.At a recent meeting of the secretaries of state at Frankfort, Ky., it was made plain that this tax, by the decision of a higher court, must be collected from the retailer and that while it is collected from the source in the state of Kentucky, the arrangement is only a "gentleman's agreement" and not one to be dependent upon for use generally.Since it would require a small army of employees to collect a gasoline tax from all of the filling stations in Indiana, it is evident that the greater part of the fund collected would not be used for goodroads which is the purpose for levying such a tax.The bill in question provides that the tax on gasoline used in stationary engines, tractors, farm lighting plants and for purposes other than automobiles, shall be refunded by a plan of giving credit where the users present the claim. This would most likely open the way for the development of "gasoline bootleggers" that would vie the present class of bootleggers and the consumption of gasoline for purposes other than automobiles would increase by leaps and bounds. If no credit is allowed for gasoline used for farm purposes
such as stationary engines, tractors and lighting plants, the tax would add another burden to the already overburdened farmer.Not much complaint has been made by owners of automobiles to an increase in license fees. No reasonable man who drives an automobile will object to paying more for the privilege of driving a machine if he is certain that the money will be used in improving the state's road system. The state highway commission is gradually building up a network of permanent roads and is maintaining gravel andmacadam roads it has taken over in a very creditable manner, so that little objection will be found to an increase in fees that is within reason.

PEOPLE'S SAYSO

To The Editor:

I received a bit of publicity
through your paper a short time ago in connection with a case tried in Circuit Court, I being one of the Jurors voting for acquittal. I have been accused of "selling out" by some of my very best friends. I have also been classified as a friend of the booze peddler and etc.I wish to state through your paper, first of all, that I do not approve of the conduct of the defendant, in that case if he was guilty.I took the oath when selected as a Juror that I would try the case
by the evidence presented. I did so to the best of my ability, and was not satisfied in my own mind that the defendant sold the liquor in question. Had I been convinced he did make the sale then the penalty I could have helped inflict would have been great enough.I feel that it was an injustice to the jurors to publish the names and how they voted. I wish to take this opportunity to express my feelings in the matter so that my friends will feel that I was not "bought off" as many of them have intimated. The other two Jurors voting with me live outside of Rushville, and were not affected by this bit of publicity, I am sure, as I have been.

CAN VINCENNES REPEAT, QUESTION

Coach Adams Says High School Team Is As Well Balanced As Last Year's Wonder Five

GIMBELIST MAN CAPTAIN

Team Has Come Through 51 Games
In Two Seasons And Has Lost
One Game To Bloomington

By GEORGE W. PURCELL
(Written for United Press)
Vincennes, Ind., Jan. 3.—Can Vincennes High School repeat the great basketball record which it hung up in Indiana state athletic annals last season?

This question becomes one of the most potential factors in the great net battle which is going on now in the 1922-23 basketball season.

Coaches and fans last season declared that it was a recover never to be beaten. So far as the number of games is concerned it will not, for the Vincennes team this season has lopped off one third of last season's schedule which probably accounted for the defeat of the Green and White aggregation in the state tourney last year.

Under the tutelage of Coach
John Adams, the team has gone through 51 games in the two seasons and has dropped just one game
—that to Bloomington in the state tournament last March.

The Alices won 38 games that season and lost the 39th. This year saw Adams lose what was generally considered the backbone of his offense. "Red" Wampler, the 125
pound forward who last year alone
came within four points of registering as many points as was scored on Vincennes in the 39 games was lost. Hoffman the running guard and Theobald the star center were graduated.

Around Jones, the Gimbelist winner of last year, and this year's captain, and Johnny Wolfe, the fast forward, Adams has built a team which so far this season appears to be equally as fast and well balanced as last year's wonder five.
Jones has developed wonderfully,
and a giant in stature he is making a whirlwind floor man and lends absolute confidence to the youngsters whom Adams has to handle as the balance of the team. A tower of strength on the defense, and a guard which no forward yet in the state has successfully scored on, Jones is also an offensive player.

His dribbles have won games and he can be depended upon to make ville can attest to this man Jones, goals when defeat looms. Martinsfor Joneshamled he pulled the Green and White from defeat at the hands of the Curtismen.

Critics of Vincennes' schedule
did not list the strongest teams in the state. This criticism would not hold water for Vincennes twice defeated Bloomington, Martinsville,

Four Big Fights Stated For '23

By HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, Jan. 3.—Binge all the big ring money grows now in the open air, very little activity with the exception of ordinary routine, is to be expected until next summer.

Four major bouts that may be contested next summer are too big for any indoor arenas and they are probably the best in store for the fans if they can be arranged.

No better entertainment could be wanted than action between:

Jack Dempsey and Luis Firpo.
Tommy Gibbons and Gene Tunney.
Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler.
Jimmy Wilde and Pancho Villa.

Putting the South American giant Firpo in the line, ahead of Harry Wills for a crack at Jack Dempsey's heavyweight championship, is bound to be projected.

It may be done, though because public opinion, as represented in State officials, has not been worked up to brave the danger of reaction from a mixed heavyweight championships.

It may be done because since several bad showings in recent months
the impression is spreading that Wills has gone back so far that he would be no match for the young champion.

You can put it in your hat and remember it that Dempsey is not afraid of Wills. Dempsey doesn't pick his opponents. The promoters do that and they do it only after feeling the pulse of the public.

Tex Richard says he doubts that Dempsey and Wills ever will meet,
but that he will stage a Dempsey-Firpo fight if the South American ships the winner of the Johnson-Brennan bout.

Gene Tunney seems to be the only one that Tommy Gibbons can get for a fight and it is doubtful if the former American light heavyweight champion ever agrees to meet him.
Gibbons, in the honest opinion of many wise followers of the ring, would make as good an opponent for Dempsey as there is on the market

now, but his inferior size would be a handicap in the drawing power of the card.

Brennan, Greb and all the other
"leading contenders" refuse to consider the name of Gibbons and Tom has to go around the country tapping the second raters, on the chin
and getting criticized for it.

If Floyd Johnson whips Bill Brennan he should not be allowed to talk of another match until he meets Gibbons.

Benny Leonard is talking again of the never dying hatred that he bears against Lew Tendler, the Philadelphia southpaw.

That can mean but one thing. If the signs were up on the bill boards it could be no more proof that another Leonard-Tendler fight is in the steam room.

Benny is in a bad way financially.
He dropped a pile of coin trying to put over a Broadway show and he needs the money.

All the dough he needs for a while is forthcoming from a bout with Tendler—FIFTEEN rounds to a DE-CISION.

The public will hardly stand for anything else.

Charley White is yelping about a chance for the title, but he never will win the championship with Leonard.

"If White could be made to forget that it was Leonard he was fighting,
he might have a chance," Jack Mc-Auliffe says. "Until then, never."

For the little fellows there is only one real card and that is the probability will be made between Jimmy Wilde, the world's flyweight champion, and Pancho Villa, the American champion.

If the little Welshman didn't have so much age on him and hadn't been out of the ring for so long, it would be a toss up but it looks like Villa
from a distance.

Dave Driscoll, the Brooklyn promoter, has the contract for a bout
and it will be fought in this country.

CARTHAGE FIVE WINS ONE

Defeats Arlington Junior A. C.'s
Tuesday Night, 22 to 20

The Carthage Vangee Five basketball team handed a defeat to the Arlington Junior A. C.'s Tuesday night at Carthage, the score being 22 to 20. The game was very fast and exciting and at no time during the game was the score more than two points difference.

At the end of the first half Carthage was leading 10 to 9. Gardner for Arlington showed up well for their team. There was no special star on the Carthage team, all players doing their best. The next game the Yankees have scheduled is with the Merit team of this city and it will probably be played next Tuesday evening at Carthage.

games during the last four years.
Last year they won ten and lost two games.

The Moscow team is equally as fast this year and their line-up will likely include L. Means, Moscow high school coach and a former Franklin college star, Paul and Chester Gosnell, Alexander, Peck
and Richards, all fast players.

Arlington was given the credit of having a fast team by a number of Rushville friends, although being defeated last Friday night in this city by the All Star team. Many did not realize that the Arlington club had as fast a team as it has and that they were all-vegan players.

The A. C. team will be greatly strengthened if Wicker and Shook are able to play Thursday. The Home Independent team and the Junior A. C. will clash in the curtain raiser. On Tuesday night,
January 9 the Greensburg Y. M. C.
A team will meet the A. C. team at the Arlington Gym. This team has on its lineup the three Marlow brothers,
former high school stars.

Bedford, Columbus and Garfield, the strongest contenders.

This year it was easier for Adams
to schedule strong teams. To date the Alices have faced Anderson, Lebanon, Bedford, Martinsville, Columbus and Jefferson of Lafayette.
All these teams have been taken into camp. All victories have been on the Vincennes floor with the exception of double defeat registered against Columbus. January and February sees the Alices on the road, with return games with each of the above save Jefferson two games with Bloomington, and a game with Technical of Indianapolis, two with Evansville and one with Wiley of Terre Haute.

"The best thing that could happen to Vincennes would be several defeats on her home floor—that was the reason she was defeated last year. This is the criticism being raised by outside coaches referees
and sport writers.

Adams does not believe this. Over confidence never seized a Vincennes team during any stage of the strenuous season last year—Never has it this.

"Why should a team suffer when it has the ability to register goals which win games?" argued Adams.
"Why should it be 'good' for Vincennes to lose those conditions?"

While Vincennes fans are drunk with the craze of victory which keeps the team on edge constantly, nevertheless they have been steeled for defeat and no doubt it will come before the season ends. However the remarkable style and ability of the youngsters Adams has on the team declare that this year's five is just as powerful as last's and that if Vincennes ever had a chance at the state tourney honors it is in 1923.

FOR KIDNEY TROUBLE

Kidney disease is one of the most insidious and dangerous. Dangerous because its presence is very often and not even suspected until until it has attained a firm hold. If the kidneys function normally, all is well, as the proper functioning of these organs is essential to the maintenance of health in the whole body.

Let your chiropractor relieve the

The Wednesday Afternoon Sewing club will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. A. T. Mahin instead of the regular meeting date.

Mrs. and Mrs. Chester Lee entertained Sunday at their beautiful home, the following guests: the Misses Margaret and Florence Shaffer, Melvin Henly, Omer Cooley and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jordan.

The Tri Kappa sorority will hold a call meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Walter Hubbard in West Second street. All the members of the sorority are urged to be present.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church will meet at the home of Mrs. V. C. Bodine, 411 North Perkins street, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Keaton will have charge of the program and Miss Winifred Muir will give a talk on China.

The Ladies Aid Society of the First United Presbyterian church held a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Anna Mary Cowan, 218 West Fourth street. The ladies enjoyed the afternoon informally with the regular business meeting followed by a social hour. The hostess served the guests with dainty refreshments.

Miss Georgia Wilson entertained with a Watch Party Sunday evening at her home in North Perkins street. The guests were the Misses Helen Edmonson, Christine Bebout, Florence Carney and Carey Edwards and Dwight Carney, Alfred Allison of Indianapolis, Claude Hawkins of Lafayette, Ind., Donald Long and Virgil Wilson.

The Young Ladies' Mission Circle of the Main Street Christian church held a pitch-in supper Tuesday night at the home of Miss Florine Gronier. Following the supper, a delightful talk was given by Mrs. Martha Grindle, who told about her trip to the Holy Land last summer. Besides the 24 members, two guests also enjoyed the affair.

The Missionary Society of the Main Street Christian church will meet at the church at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The following will be the program: Bible study, "Martha"; Mrs. Theodore Abernethy, Jr.; Music, Miss Florine Gronier; book review, "Problems in Pan Americanism," Mrs. A. L. Stewart; "Protestantism in South America," Miss Emma Cassidy.

Miss Mary Sleeth gave a very interesting review of the book "The Green Mirror", Tuesday evening at the meeting of the Shakespeare club, which was delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Will L. Brown in East Ninth street. Following the review, the members entered into a discussion of the book. The hostess served a delicious luncheon following the discussion and an informal social hour was enjoyed.

INTEREST IN CHILD HEALTH IS GROWING

Dr. Schweitzer's Report Shows Interest Has Grown Beyond Compass of Available Fund

HEALTH CONFERENCES HELD

Division Of Infant And Child Hygiene Is Spreader Of Health Propaganda—Women On Staff

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 3.—The popular interest in child health in Indiana has been growing far beyond the compass of available funds. Dr. Ada Schweitzer, said today in her annual report for 1922.

Dr. Schweitzer is director of the division of infant and child hygiene of the state board of health. She has a staff of about 20 women.

The chief work of the division, according to Dr. Schweitzer is in county child health conferences. These conferences are usually conducted at county seats by nurses of the division who make examinations of children, give advice to mothers and give general lectures on health.

The division does similar work at fairs and "better baby" contests. During 1922 they visited 82 counties and examined 9,301 children. They also lectured to 72,299 people.

The division is also a spreader of health propaganda. It has some thirty five different pamphlets which it distributes to all who are interested in keeping themselves and their children healthy. These pamphlets are written so that they are interesting and understandable to all ages and mentalities. To the children with things detrimental to health portrayed as witches and demons and good things as fairies. A book of health nursery rhyme is also among the list.

The division distributed 90,761 of the pamphlets.

The work this year has been nearly doubled since the addition of an extra physician, Dr. Schweitzer said, but she will ask the state legislature for one more. She will also ask the legislature for the approval of Governor McCray's acceptance of the Sheppard-Towner act which was passed by congress a year ago last November and which finances the division's work more than half.

INTEREST IN REVIVAL

Last night's service was well attended at the Salvation Army church and great interest is being shown. Evangelist McQueen, who is conducting the services this week, took for his subject "Ye are My Witness", which proved to be a wonderful message. A quartet from the church of God gave a musical selection. Services will be held every night this week at 7:30 o'clock and the public is invited to attend these services.

is well illustrated by the thousands of women who are entering every profession, almost every line of business and politics as well. They are bound to make good, and there is no question but what health is their greatest asset. Many women, however, develop weak, nervous conditions and cannot stand the strain of a professional or business life. Such women should remember when beset with headache, backache, nervousness, irritability or any ailment peculiar to their sex that the greatest of all remedies for such conditions is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For nearly fifty years this old fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring the women of America to health and strength. A Scream Heard In The Night.

CHAPTER IV

I turned and, hardly conscious of my actions, stumbled from the room. It was several minutes before I found myself again alone and making for the little room into which Beaton had vanished a half-hour before. I approached the doorway and was about to enter when a heavy step shook the threshold before me and I found myself confronted by the advancing figure of an elderly lady whose portrait it is now time for me to draw.

Imagine, a broad, weighty woman of not much height, with a face whose features were usually forgotten in the impression made by her great cheeks and falling jowls. If the small eyes rested on you, you found them sinister and strange. She was a woman of immense means, and an oppressive consciousness of this spoke in every movement of her heavy frame. Add to this that she was seldom seen without a display of diamonds which made her broad bust look like the bejeweled breast of some Eastern idol, and some idea may be formed of this redoubtable woman whom I have hitherto confined myself to speaking of as the gorgon.

The stare she gave me had something venomous and threatening in it. Yet why should the old woman frown on me? I had been told more than once that she regarded me with great favor. Had I unwittingly done something to displease her? I entered the room. Two men and one woman stood in rather an embarrassed silence about a table on which lay some cards. One of the men was Will Beaton, and it was he who now remarked:

"She has just found out that the young people are enjoying themselves. I wonder upon which of her two nieces she will expend her ill-temper tonight?"

"Oh, there's no question about that," remarked the lady who stood near him. "Ever since she had a reasonable prospect of working Gilbertine off her hands, she has devoted herself quite exclusively to her remaining burden. I hear that the south hall was blue today with the talk she gave Dorothy Camerden. No one knows what about, for the girl evidently tries to please her."

I gave Beaton a look and stepped out on the veranda. In a minute he followed me.

"Beaton," said I, "we have not known each other long, but I am disposed to be frank with you. I am in trouble. My affections are engaged, deeply engaged, in a quarter where I find some mystery. You have helped make it. I allude to the story you related the other morning of the young girl you had seen hanging over the verge of the cliff, with every appearance of intending to throw herself over."

"It was as a dream I related that," he remarked.

"That I am aware of. But it was no dream to me, Beaton. I fear I know that young girl; I also fear that I know what drove her into contemplating so rash an act. The conversation just held in the card-room should enlighten you. Beaton, am I wrong?" This is what he said in reply:

"It was a dream. Remember that I insist upon its being a dream. But some of its details are very clear in my mind. When I stumbled upon this dream-maiden in the moonlight her face was turned from me toward the ocean, and I did not see her features then or afterwards. Startled by some sound I made, she crouched, drew back and fled to cover. That cover, I have good reason to believe, was this very house."

"This dream-maiden was a woman?" I inquired. "One of the women now in this house."

He replied reluctantly.

"She was a young woman and she wore a long cloak. My dream ends there."

I started for the nearest window, which proved to be that of the music room. I was about to enter when I saw two women crossing to the opposite doorway, and paused with a note to them, for one was Mrs. Lansing and the other Dorothy. The aunt had evidently come for the niece and they were leaving the room together. Not amicably, however. Harsh words had passed, or I am no judge of the human countenance. Dorothy, especially, bore herself like one who finds difficulty in restraining herself from some unhappy outburst, and her hands were held clenched at her sides.

I stepped into the room. Another person was sitting there. It was Gilbertine Murray, sitting alone in an attitude of deep thought.

Truly she was a beautiful woman. I did not wonder that Sinclair had succumbed to charms so pronounced and uncommon.

"I am glad to a moment in which to speak to you alone," I said. "As Sinclair's oldest and closest friend, I wish to tell you how truly you can rely both on his affection and esteem. He has an infinitely good heart."

Something seemed to choke her, something which she finally mastered. "Thank you," she then said, "my prospects are very happy. No one but myself knows how happy." And she smiled again, but with an expression which recalled to my mind Sinclair's fears.

But before I could answer, she was surrounded and dragged off by a knot of young people.

I found Sinclair at last in his room, sitting with his head buried in his arms. He started up as I entered.

"Well?" he asked sharply.

"I have learned nothing decisive."

"Nor I."

"I exchanged some words with both ladies and I tackled Beaton, but the matter remains just about where it was. It may have been Dorothy who took the box and it may have been Gilbertine. But there seems to be greater reason for suspecting Dorothy. She lives a hell of a life with that aunt."

"And Gilbertine is on the point of escaping that bondage. I know, I have thought that."

"But the doubt," he cried, "the doubt! How can I go through this rehearsal with such a doubt in my mind? I can not and will not. Go tell them I am ill and can not come down again tonight. God knows you will tell no untruth."

"It will be unwise to rouse comment," I said. "If that box was taken for the death it holds, the one restraint most likely to act upon the young girl who retains it will be the conventionalities of her position and the requirements of the hour. Any break in the settled order of things might precipitate the dreadful event we fear. Remember, one turn of the hand and all is lost."

"Frightful!" he murmured, the perspiration oozing from his forehead. "What a wedding-eve! Walter, Walter, don't you see that, even if that cursed box remains unopened and nothing ever comes of its theft, the seeds of distrust are sown thick in my breast, and I must always ask: 'Was there a moment when my young bride shrank from me enough to dream of death?' That is why I can not go through the mockery of this rehearsal."

"Can you go through the ceremony of marriage?"

"I must—if nothing happens tonight."

Later he went through the rehearsal very much as I had expected him to do, quietly and without any outward show of emotion.

As soon as possible after this the company separated, Sinclair making me an imperceptible gesture as he went up stairs. I knew what it meant, and was in his room as soon as the fellows who accompanied him had left him alone.

"The danger is from now on," he cried, as soon as I had closed the door behind me. "I shall not undress tonight."

"No, I."

Happy we both have rooms by ourselves in this great house. I

VETERANS OF THREE WARS HONOR THE DEAD
A party of Spanish War Veterans who represented all wars in which members of the U. S. W. V. participated, placing wreaths on the tomb of the unknown dead of the Civil War, at Arlington Cemetery, Washington, D. C. This simple rite was performed as an act of consecration on the part of the United Spanish War Veterans, who are introducing a bill to Congress providing for benefits reaped by World War veterans to be given to veterans of all wars. Maj.-Gen. John L. Clem, U. S. A., retired, is placing the wreath.

shall put out my light and then open my door as far as need be. Not a move in the house will escape me."

"I will do the same."

"Gilbertine—God be thanked—is not alone in her room. Little Miss Lane shares it with her."

"And Dorothy?"

"Oh, she is under the strictest bondage night and day. She sleeps in a little room off her aunt's. Do you know her door?"

Why was I on my feet? Had I heard anything?

Yes, a stir, a very faint stir somewhere down the hall—the slow, cautious opening of a door, then a footfall—or had I imagined the latter? I could hear nothing now.

Pushing open my door, I looked cautiously out. Only the pale face of Sinclair confronted me. Advancing, we met in silence. For the moment we seemed to be the only persons awake in the east house. "I thought I heard a step," I whispered.

"That is what I heard," was his murmured protest, "what I heard was a creak in the small stairway running down at the end of the hall where my room is."

Next instant his face and I have no doubt, my own; turned the color of clay and Sinclair went reeling back against the wall.

A scream had risen in this sleeping house—a piercing and insistent scream such as raises the hair and girdles the blood.

Lumber Expert Enjoys Work Now

Gary Citizen Declares Tanlae Restored Him Fully After Fearful Attack of Flu.

"It certainly is fine to be back on the yard feeling as full of energy as I did when in my twenties, and I give Tanlae every bit of the credit," said Geli B. Hunter, of 3928 Jackson St., Gary, Ind., expert grader for Glen Park Lumber Co.

"Until I took Tanlae I was suffering terribly from after effects of flu—which I had about two years ago. I had no appetite, food lost all its taste and what I did eat seemed to form in hard, indigestible lumps, causing great pain and weakness. I had severe headaches and sleep did me little good. I woke up in the morning so tired I felt like I had done a hard day's work."

"It was astonishing how soon Tanlae had me feeling fine and in a little while I was full of old-time energy. I enjoy restful sleep now and have the strength to carry me through the day no matter how great the rush. I never hesitate to give Tanlae high praise."

Tanlae is for sale by all druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.

Bluffton — Fastidious thieves robbed the stores of John Marsh and Jerome Kiser of Keystone of bacon eggs and perfume without molesting anything else.

TO USE BUSINESS METHODS

Women Of New Albany To Apply Them To Household Finances

New Albany, Ind., Jan. 3.—Business methods will be used in handling family finances at least 18 New Albany homes during the coming year as a result of an expense account and budget meeting held recently by the Home Economics section of the Woman's Club federation. Miss Madeline Connor of the Home Economics Extension staff at Purdue, spoke on the value of the keeping of a household expense account and budget for the home. She pointed out that it is necessary to keep some sort of an account before the best budget may be made. Eight women from Clarke county interested in this work came to New Albany for this meeting and made plans to discuss it before their own local clubs. An expense account book for the home has been compared at Purdue and is being distributed at cost, which is 25 cents, to the women of the state.

QUIT TOBACCO

So easy to drop Cigarette, Cigar, or Chewing habit

No-To-Bac has helped thousands to break the costly, nerve-shattering tobacco habit. Whenever you have a longing for a smoke or chew, just place a harmless No-To-Bac tablet in your mouth instead. All desire stops. Shortly the habit is completely broken, and you are better off mentally, physically, financially. It's so easy, so simple. Get a box of No-To-Bac and if it doesn't release you from all craving for tobacco in any form, your druggist will refund your money without question. No-To-Bac is made by the owners of Cascarets; therefore is thoroughly reliable.

PAY TELEPHONE TOLL

Don't overlook to pay your telephone toll before Jan. 12 if you wish to avoid paying 15 cents extra for collection. No notice will be given by telephone. M. V. SPIVEY, Secretary.

DON'T JUNK YOUR CAR

Let Us Remodel It Into a Good One

Car knowledge and careful workmanship can do wonders with your bucking machine. It doesn't buck without cause. Our strong point is in locating all causes and correcting them.

The longer you let it buck the nearer it gets to the junk pile.
